Creating First Facebook Campaign

- Choosing the right objective.
- A Campaign is the most abstract and broad level of your advertising efforts.
- An Ad Set is where you decide what type of ads that you want to run and the target audience that you want to see your ads.
- Finally, there are the Ads themselves. This is the level where you actually design your ads and decide elements like copy, images and CTA buttons.

Organic VS Paid

- There's no right or wrong answer here.
- Decide when to do organic and paid.
- Align with your business goals.

- If you just want to strengthen your brand and online presence, you might be able to get away with organic efforts. If your goal is to attract new people, drive more audience to your website, and increase ROI, however, you should definitely look at the paid Ads.

Did you Consider these points before making your campaign Live?

Facebook policies.

Image Text should not exceed more than 20% of the image.

Privacy policy in case of Lead Generation.

You Facebook ad campaigns should always be focused on two things: Cost Effective, Relevant

Facebook Retargeting

Facebook provides with a Facebook pixel code to be placed on your website.

Retarget those people who has visited a specific page in the last X days.

Pixel is same for all Pages.

Remarketing can be done through Facebook Ads.

Facebook marketing blunders

- Too much promotion
- Focusing only on 'Likes'
- Incomplete information on your brand page
- Too many words.
- Aligning with Facebook policies.
- Proper usage of hashtags.
